Next Meeting, November 12, At Ted's Shop

Our next hammer-in is coming up this Saturday, November 12th. Coffee and doughnuts and social time starts at 8:30AM.

The agenda this month will center around forge welding. Hopefully, everyone will have a chance to experience a forge weld or two. These trials will be done in the coal forge. Weather wise, it may be too cold to comfortably work outside.

We will have an Iron-in-the-Hat drawing that will be really loaded. I have made 3 tools for the drawing.

Good luck with this drawing.

Carol has fried chicken for lunch, so please bring a dish to compliment the chicken dinner.

The Forge

For Purdue's first 150 years, Boilermakers have harnessed the power of their experience to create what moves the world forward.

Hidden strength lies in the heart of every Boilermaker, and it is our individual responsibility to unlock this world-changing potential.

Remember the past, but take giant leaps forward - go and forge the future.

After all, you are a Boilermaker.

Dedicated September 22, 2018, as part of Purdue's sesquicentennial celebration

(This bronze sculpture is on the Purdue campus on Third Street between Krach Leadership center and Wilfred Parker Hall. It depicts an anvil on a wooden stump, a blacksmith's hammer, a railroad spike, and several sets of tongs.)
